Indian Republic Day: Celebration of Genocide, Repression Not a Republic But a Fundamentalist Hindu Majority Tyranny

WASHINGTON, D.C., January 26, 2011 – Today is India's Republic Day, the anniversary of the adoption of India's Constitution. The Council of Khalistan and the more than 25 million strong Sikh Nation, as well as other minorities, observe Republic Day as a black day celebrating repression, genocide, and tyranny. For minorities, India is neither a republic nor a democracy, but a Hindu fundamentalist tyranny. As U.S. representative Dana Rohrabacher (R-Cal.) said, "For the people of Jammu and Punjab and Kashmir, India might as well not be a democracy. For them, India might as well be Nazi Germany."

republic is rule by law, with protection for the rights of all. India is not living up to that standard. What is there to celebrate, then, on Republic Day? James Madison, the primary author of the United States Constitution, warned against "the tyranny of the majority." That is what India is. As Narinder Singh, a spokesman for the Golden Temple, told America's National Public Radio in 1997, "The Indian government, all the time they boast that they are democratic, that they are secular. They have nothing to do with a democracy, nothing to do with a secularism. They just kill Sikhs to please the majority."

On January 26, 1950, the Indian Constitution was adopted, establishing India as a republic. But the Indian government has murdered over 50,000 Sikhs since 1984, more than 300,000 Christians since 1948 (plus many more throughout the country), over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988 (as well as at least 2,000 to 5,000 in Gujarat), and tens of thousands of Tamils, Assamese, Manipuris, Dalits, Bodos, and others. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide." According to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR), 52,268 Sikhs and tens of thousands of other minorities are being held as political prisoners in India without charge or trial. Some have been in illegal custody since 1984! Tens of thousands of other minorities are also being held as political prisoners, according to Amnesty International. We demand the immediate release of all these political prisoners.

Dalits (the dark-skinned "Untouchables") still cannot get out of the repression of India's caste system, which is still in force even though it was banned by the Constitution 61 years ago. Some have tried to get out of the caste system by converting to other religions. In response, India has tried to outlaw conversions. Gandhi pretended to be a friend of the Dalits, giving them the name Harijans (children of God), but did not give them equality. Reservations have created a few jobs for Dalits, but have not cured the real problem of repression. A Dalit constable entered a Hindu temple on a rainy day and was stoned to death. A Dalit girl was blinded by her teacher for drinking from the community water pitcher. To this day, a high-caste Brahmin cannot tolerate the shadow of a Dalit, but Brahmins feel free to have sex with young Dalit girls without getting contaminated."

This Republic Day, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), the political arm of the repressive, pro-Fascist Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), will be marching to Srinagar, Kashmir to plant the Indian flag. Srinagar is where 26 Kashmiris were murdered by Indian forces several years ago. It is where the son of a Kashmiri leader was murdered earlier this month. How can the BJP choose to rub salt in the wounds of oppression?

In 1948, India agreed to a free and fair plebiscite in Kashmir under the auspices of the United Nations. That plebiscite has never been held because they know that the people of Kashmir, a majority Muslim state, would choose to get out of India. As former Home Minister L.K. Advani said, "If Kashmir goes, India goes." He is correct. India is on the verge of disintegration. It is not a single nation, but many nations thrown together by the British colonialists for their administrative convenience. It has many nations, cultures, religions, and languages within its artificial borders. As Steve Forbes pointed out in Forbes Magazine, such multinational states are doomed to disintegrate. Austria-Hungary, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia are examples of this. India is such a multinational country. In 2009, the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency predicted that India will not exist as we know it by 2015.

Today in India, 300 million people – one quarter of the population – live in a subsistence existence on less than two dollars ($2) per day. That is equivalent of the entire population of the United States. They subsist on one meal per day. "While India celebrates, Sikhs and other minorities are dying," said Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, which leads the Sikh Nation's struggle for independence. "Is that something to celebrate? The Indian government continues to persecute and kill our Sikh brethren," said Dr. Aulakh. "The Brahminocracy is trying to subsume and eliminate the Sikh religion," he said. "It is time to reclaim our sovereignty in a free and independent Khalistan. Sikhism is a sovereign, independent religion and has nothing to do with Hinduism or any other religion."

When India became independent, Sikhs were equal partners in the transfer of power and were to receive their own state, but the weak and ignorant Sikh leaders of the time were tricked into staying with India on the promise that they would have "the glow of freedom" and no law affecting the Sikhs would pass without their consent. Sikhs ruled an independent and sovereign Punjab from 1710 to 1716 and again from 1765 to 1849 and were recognized by most of the countries of the world at that time. No Sikh representative has ever signed the Indian constitution. Sikhism was not even recognized in the Indian constitution as a separate religion, while Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, Jainism, etc. were recognized. Discrimination against the Sikh Nation took place in every sphere.

Only a sovereign, independent Khalistan will end the repression and lift the standard of living for the people of Punjab. We demand freedom and self-determination, rather than the genocide that has been inflicted on us for so many years," said Dr. Aulakh. "As Professor Darshan Singh, a former Jathedar of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not for Khalistan, he is not a Sikh', he noted. "We must continue to work for our God-given birthright of freedom," he said. "A sovereign Khalistan is essential for the survival of the Sikh religion. We must make our voices heard for our fellow Sikhs and all oppressed minorities in India."

Dr. Aulakh Speaks at International Sikh Conference Raised Slogans of "Khalsitan Zindabad", Very Well Received

WASHINGTON, D.C., January 21, 2011 – Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, spoke at the International Sikh Conference on January 8 at Royal Albert Hall in Edison, New Jersey. The conference was organized by the American branch of the Shiromani Akali Dal (Amritsar). Over 750 people were in attendance. He raised slogans of "Khalsitan Zindabad", which were very well received. The crowd was very enthusiastic. Dr. P.S. Ajrawat, who also spoke, also raised slogans of "Khalsitan Zindabad." Speakers came from Canada, Britain, France, and India as well as the United States.

In addition to Dr. Aulakh and Dr. Ajrawat, other speakers included Sardar Aman Singh Mann, son of former Member of Parliament Simranjit Singh Mann, leader of the Akali Dal (Amritsar); Sardar Buta Singh Kharoudh, leader of the Akali Dal (Amritsar) in the United States; Sardar Ram Singh of the American Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee; Sardar Rajbhinder Singh Badesha; Sardar Sukhdev Singh Gill; Sardar Chain Singh from France, European representative of the Akali Dal (Amritsar); Sardar Manohar Singh from Canada; and others. Dr. Ajrawat presented a copy of his book Khalistan Meditation to Sardar Mann.

The conference was very successful and the drive to free Khalistan has reached the grassroots level in Punjab. Sardar Simranjit Singh Mann recently announced that the Akali Dal (Amritsar) will contest the upcoming elections for the Shiromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee (SGPC) in Punjab on a platform of independence for Khalistan. He recently held a rally in Jagraon, Punjab, which was attended by more than 100,000 people.

In India, the High Court of Punjab ruled many years ago in the case of the late Colonel Partap Singh that it is legal under the Indian constitution to seek independence for Khalistan. Nonetheless, Sardar Mann, leaders of Dal Khalsa, and others, were arrested a few years ago for holding a march, making pro-Khalistan speeches, and raising the Khalistani flag. India does not even abide by its own laws.

The Indian government has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984, more than 300,000 Christians since 1948 (plus many more throughout the country), over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988 (as well as at least 2,000 to 5,000 in Gujarat), and tens of thousands of Tamils, Assamese, Manipuris, Dalits, Bodos, and others. Sardar Aman Singh Mann cited these figures in his presentation. These figures have been cited by this office, documented in the Congressional Record and published in the book The Politics of Genocide by Sardar Inderjit Singh Jajjee. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

According to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR), 52,268 Sikhs are being held as political prisoners in India without charge or trial. Some have been in illegal custody since 1984! Tens of thousands of other minorities are also being held as political prisoners, according to Amnesty International. No Sikh representative has ever signed the Indian constitution. Sikhism was not even recognized in the Indian constitution as a separate religion, while Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, Jainism, etc. were recognized. Discrimination against the Sikh Nation took place in every sphere.

"I would like to thank the organizers of the International Sikh Conference for inviting me to speak," Dr. Aulakh said. "This event is a good step forward for the cause of freedom for Khalistan," he said. "Only a sovereign, independent Khalistan will end the oppression and raise the standard of living in Punjab," he said. "Khalistan is essential for the survival of the Sikh religion. As Professor Darshan Singh, a former Jathedar of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not for Khalistan, he is not a Sikh'." He noted that other Akal Takht Jathedars, including Jatheedar Ranjit Singh and Jathedar Joginder Singh Vedanti, have also spoken out for Khalistan. "We must follow their lead and continue to work for our God-given birthright of freedom," Dr. Aulakh said.

Manpreet Singh Badal Forms New Party Vote Only for Candidates Committed to Khalistan

WASHINGTON, D.C., January 21, 2011 – Manpreet Singh, the former Finance Minister of Punjab, who was expelled from the Shiromani Akali Dal (Badal) for alleged "anti-party activities" in a dispute with Chief Minister Parkash Singh Badal's son Sukhbir, has formed a new party, the New Morcha. This means that the upcoming elections for the Shiromani Gurdwara prabandhak committee (SGPC) will be a four-way competition among the Shiromani Akali Dal (Badal), the Congress party under the leadership of Captain Amarinder Singh, the New Morcha, and the Shiromani Akali Dal (Amritsar), led by former Member of Parliament Simranjit Singh Mann. Sardar Mann has promised that the Akali Dal (Amritsar) will run the election campaign on a platform of liberating Khalistan.

The next election will change the political landscape in Punjab, Khalistan. It is changing fast. This election will create an upheaval that will bring the establishment of Khalsitan even closer. The establishment of Khalistan is very close. The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency has predicted that India will not exist as we know it by 2015. India is not a single nation, but many nations thrown together by the British colonialists for their administrative convenience. Such multinational states are doomed to disintegrate like Austria-Hungary, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia have done. We intend to liberate Khalistan by peaceful, democratic, nonviolent means.

Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, the government pro tempore of Khalistan, called on the Sikhs of Punjab to vote only for candidates who support freedom for Khalistan. "Only a sovereign, independent Khalistan will end the repression and raise the standard of living in Punjab," he said.

At the time of India's independence, Sikhs were to receive their own state, but the weak Sikh leaders of the time were tricked into staying with India on the promise that they would have "the glow of freedom" and no law affecting the Sikhs would pass without their consent. Sikhs gave 80 percent of the sacrifices for India's independence, but Home Minister Patel sent out a memo describing Sikhs as "a criminal tribe."

Sikhs ruled an independent and sovereign Punjab from 1710 to 1716 and again from 1765 to 1849 and were recognized by most of the countries of the world at that time. No Sikh representative has ever signed the Indian constitution. The High Court of Punjab has ruled that it is legal under the Indian Constitution to speak out for independence for Khalistan. Nonetheless, 35 Sikh leaders were arrested a few years ago for holding a march, making pro-Khalistan speeches, and raising the Khalistani flag.

The Indian government has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984, more than 300,000 Christians in Nagaland since 1948 (plus many more throughout the country), over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988 (as well as at least 2,000 to 5,000 in Gujarat), and tens of thousands of Tamils, Assamese, Manipuris, Dalits, Bodos, and others. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

According to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR), 52,268 Sikhs are being held as political prisoners in India without charge or trial. Some have been in illegal custody since 1984! Tens of thousands of other minorities are also being held as political prisoners, according to Amnesty International. We demand the immediate release of all these political prisoners.

Farmers in Punjab are forced to buy supplies at exorbitant prices and sell their crop at below-market rates. That is why the suicide rate is high among the farmers of Punjab. To save the farmers, liberating Khalsitan is essential. In 2001, Ajmer Singh Lakhawal, the head of the Bharat Kisan Union, called for self-determination for the Sikhs.

Khalistan is essential for the survival of the Sikh religion. "As Professor Darshan Singh, a former Jathedar of the Akal Takht, said, If a Sikh is not for Khalistan, he is not a Sikh." He noted that other Akal Takht Jathedars, including Jatheedar Ranjit Singh and Jathedar Joginder Singh Vedanti, have also spoken out for Khalistan. "These enlightened leaders have strongly spoken out for the interests of the Sikh Nation," Dr. Aulakh said. "We must follow their lead and continue to work for our God-given birthright of freedom," Dr. Aulakh said.

Sikhs Celebrate Guru Nanak's 542nd Birthday With Reverence and Enthusiasm Air Filled With Khalistan Zindabad Slogans

WASHINGTON, D.C., December 27, 2010 – More than 15,000 Sikhs came from the United States, Canada, Punjab, the United Kingdom, Australia, Southeast Asia, and around the world to Nankana Sahib to celebrate the 542nd anniversary of the birth of their first Guru, Guru Nanak, founder of the Sikh religion. Guru Nanak was born in 1469. Over 3,000 Sikhs came from Indian Punjab to the celebration. At the celebration, the air was filled with slogans of "Khalistan Zindabad."

The Indian Jatha was received at the Wagha border by the Waqaf Board. They arranged a very nice Langhar for the pilgrims and special trains were arranged for their transportation. These trains brought them to Nankana Sahib, Panja Sahib, and other historic sites. On Gurpurb day, the Sikhs had Nagar Kirtan in the Gurdwara. The Pakistani government arranged extensive security for the pilgrims. Armed guards patrolled all crossroads and bridges between Lahore and Nankana Sahib.

Television, newspapers, and other media covered the auspicious occasion. Television carried speeches by the Sikh diaspora and interviews with diaspora leaders, including Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, which leads the peaceful, democratic, nonviolent struggle to liberate the Sikh homeland from Indian occupation; Sardar Manmohan Singh, the leader of Dal Khalsa in London; and others, as well as S. Surinder Singh, Member, Shiromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee (SGPC), head of the Indian delegation. Dr. Swaran Singh from Peshawar managed the stage very ably. After offering congratulations on this auspicious occasion, Dr. Aulakh and Sardar Manmohan Singh spoke of the need for an independent Khalistan. At the end of his speech, Dr. Aulakh raised five slogans of Khalistan Zindabad. The response of the 15,000 Sikhs in attendance was overwhelming. You could hear it throughout Nankana Sahib. During his interviews, Dr. Aulakh stressed the need to free Khalistan as soon as possible.

The SGPC delegation, led by S. Surinder Singh, honored officials of the Waqaf Board and other government officials, including the Minister of Minorities and the Deputy Commissioner of the SSP of Nankana Sahib. Although S. Surinder Singh, the Jatha leader, and the SGPC members want Khalistan, they are reluctant to come out openly for Khalistan. S. Surinder Singh admitted to Dr. Aulakh that they are hardly surviving in Punjab under Indian government control. Dr. Aulakh suggested to him that this is a reason to free Khalistan from Indian occupation as soon as possible so that Sikhs in Punjab can live in freedom, dignity, and honor. Only in a free Khalistan will Sikhs be able to flourish religiously, economically, and politically. India seeks to destroy the Sikh Nation religiously, economically, and politically.

India is also destroying Sikhs economically. The Indian government fixes the price for fertilizer very high and the price for produce very low so Sikh farmers can't even get the cost of production for their crops. This year it fixed the wheat price at Rs750 per quintal. Even Badal demanded Rs 1000 per quintal. If Punjab farmers could sell their produce across the border in Pakistan and the Middle East, they could easily get close to Rs1,500 per quintal and would be able to make a living. They wouldn't have to be under debt and commit suicide. Recently in Punjab, the price of onions rose to Rs70 (about $1.50) per kilogram. The poor people in Punjab can't afford such high prices when the average per capita income is two dollars per day.

When Khalistan is free, the border will be open for trade and movement of people without restriction. In a free Khalistan, Sikhs will be able to visit their religious places throughout the year with no visa. Movement restrictions and visa requirements will be removed in Khalistan and Pakistan.

India is on the verge of disintegration. The Kashmir problem has to be resolved very soon. As L.K. Advani said, "if Kashmir goes, India goes." He is right. Last year, a US Central Intelligence Agency report predicted that by 2015, India will cease to exist as we know it. India is not one country but a conglomerate thrown together by the British for their administrative convenience. It has 18 official languages. History shows that multinational states such as India are doomed to failure. Countries like Austria-Hungary, India's longtime friend the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and others prove this point. India is a polyglot like those countries, thrown together for the convenience of the British colonialists. It is doomed to break up as they did. Currently, there are 17 freedom movements within India's borders.

Montenegro, which has less than a million people, has become a sovereign country and a member of the United Nations," he said. "Earlier this year, Kosovo obtained independence from Serbia and became a UN member. Now it is the time for the Sikh Nation of Punjab, Khalistan to become independent. The sooner the better."

On September 27, former Member of Parliament Simranjit Singh Mann held a conference in Jagraon in Ludhiana District. 80,000 to 100,000 attended. They raised slogans of Khalistan Zindabad and passed a resolution for Khalistan. "The only solution to the Punjab and Sikh problem is an independent Khalistan" Sardar Mann said recently. "The establishment of Khalistan is of the utmost importance. To keep peace in South Asia, a buffer state of Khalistan is essential." Last year, Dal Khalsa, led by Sardar Harcharan Singh Dhami, passed a resolution demanding independence for Khalistan. A few years ago, several Sikh leaders were arrested after holding a march, making speeches, and raising the Sikh flag in support of Khalistan. Khalistan declared its independence from India on October 7, 1987. Sikhs must be allowed to have a free and fair plebiscite on the issue of Khalistan. In a democracy, you cannot continue to rule against the wishes of the people. As former Senator George Mitchell said about the Palestinians, "the essence of democracy is the right to self-determination."

"Freedom is the God-given right of every nation and every human being," said Dr. Aulakh. Guru Gobind Singh gave sovereignty to the Sikh Nation ("In grieb Sikhin ko deon Patshahi.") Sikhs ruled Punjab from 1710 to 1716 and again from 1765 to 1849. "The time has come for the Sikh Nation to achieve independence and enjoy the glow of freedom in a sovereign, independent Khalistan where the Sikh Nation is the master of its own destiny," said Dr. Aulakh. In a free Khalistan, Sikhs will not have to see a holocaust like the one that it faced in the 1980s and 1990s, in which India murdered over 250,000 Sikhs. Another 52,268 are being held as political prisoners, according to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR.) In addition, India has killed over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir as well as 2,000 to 5,000 Muslims in Gujarat, over 300,000 Christians in Nagaland, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Dalits (the dark-skinned, aboriginal "Untouchables"), Manipuris, Tamils, and other minorities. The Gujarat massacre was pre-planned, according to a police officer who spoke to Indian newspapers. Nuns have been raped, priests have been murdered, churches have been burned, Christian prayer halls and schools have been attacked, and police broke up a Christian religious festival with gunfire. In 1994, the U.S. State Department reported that the Indian government had paid over 41,000 cash bounties for killing Sikhs. A MASR report quotes the Punjab Civil Magistracy as writing "if we add up the figures of the last few years the number of innocent persons killed would run into lakhs [hundreds of thousands]." The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

Punjab Police, under the control of the Indian government, picked up over 50,000 young Sikh men from their homes, tortured them, murdered them, and then cremated their bodies, declaring them unidentified. Jaswant Singh Khalra, a human-rights activist with the Badal Akali Dal, went to three creation grounds (Patti, Tarn Taran, and Durgiana Mandir) and identified 6,008 bodies of young Sikh men between 20 and 30 with long hair. For investigating and exposing these atrocities, Sardar Khalra was arrested in front of his house by K.P.S. Gill's police while he was washing his car. He was tortured and murdered in police custody like those he identified and his body was not given to his family. It was disposed of by the police. Akal Takht Jathedar Gurdev Singh Kaunke was arrested by SSP Swaran Singh Ghotra. He was tortured and murdered. His body was also disposed of. Is this the action of a democratic government or a tyrannical regime? Under Indian law, the government is required to hand over the dead body to the family of the deceased. India doesn't even obey its own laws! How can it be that in "democratic" India, a quarter of a million Sikhs have been murdered and nobody has been prosecuted for these crimes?

In a free Khalistan, these kinds of atrocities will not be allowed to happen. The rights of minorities will be respected. The Federal government will only control foreign affairs, defense, a common currency, and roads. The Panchayat will be given most of the power to decide about litigation, except in cases of murder or other such crimes. Block Samitis and the Panchayat will spend all the development funds. All people will feel the glow of freedom. Justice will be quick and cheap. One won't have to fight expensive litigation that lasts for decades and ruins the families of the litigants like the characters in Charles Dickens's Bleak House.

"We must reclaim the sovereignty of the Sikh Nation," Dr. Aulakh said. Dr. Aulakh appealed to the Akali Dal and other Sikh parties in the Punjab Legislative Assembly to pass a resolution documenting all the mistreatment and economic exploitation of the Sikhs by the Indian government since independence. India diverts Punjab's river water, its natural resource, to neighboring Haryana and Rajasthan without any compensation despite former Chief Minister Amarinder Singh cancelling Punjab's water agreements with India. The Legislative Assembly explicitly affirmed the sovereignty of Punjab as described in the Indian constitution. This same sovereignty can be used by the Assembly to declare independence. India will be helpless and the Sikh diaspora will help to free Khalistan.

"The only way that the Sikh nation can flourish and progress is in a sovereign, independent Khalistan," said Dr. Aulakh. "As Professor Darshan Singh, former Jathedar of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh.,'" Dr. Aulakh said. "We must free Khalistan now."

Sikhs, Kashmiris Protest in Brussels at European Parliament During Visit of Dr. Manmohan Singh, Prime Minister of India

WASHINGTON, D.C., December 27, 2010 – During the visit of Indian Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh to the European Union, Sikhs and Kashmiris protested at Schuman Plaza outside the European parliament while he was visiting there. Sikhs from all over Europe, including Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Netherlands, and other European countries demonstrated along with many hundreds of Kashmiris. It was a very powerful protest by Sikhs and Kashmiris together.

The Sikhs and Kashmiris gave a memo to the European Parliament exposing the atrocities against them by so-called "democratic" India and its non-fulfillment of its own resolution of 1948 promising a plebiscite on self-determination for of Kashmir under the auspices of the United Nations.

India has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984. Another 52,268 are being held as political prisoners, according to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR.) In addition, India has killed over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir as well as 2,000 to 5,000 Muslims in Gujarat, over 300,000 Christians in Nagaland, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Dalits (the dark-skinned, aboriginal "Untouchables"), Manipuris, Tamils, and other minorities. For doing so, Sardar Khalra was arrested by the police, then tortured and murdered in police custody and his body was disposed of by the police and not given to his family. Jathedar Gurdev Singh Kaunke was arrested by SSP Swaran Singh Ghota, then tortured and murdered. His body was also disposed of.

India is internationally exposed. It is not a democracy, but a majority fundamentalist Hindu regime under which minorities are routinely persecuted. It doesn't matter whether the Congress Party or the BJP is in power. The Congress Party was in power when the Golden Temple was invaded, and the BJP congratulated Indira Gandhi on the attack. The genocide continued until the early 1990s. The chief of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), a pro-Fascist organization that is the parent organization of the BJP, said that if you live in India, you must either be a Hindu or be subservient to Hindus. This is the policy of Hindu India. As Narinder Singh, a spokesman for the Golden Temple, told America's National Public Radio in 1997, "The Indian government, all the time they boast that they are democratic, that they are secular. They have nothing to do with a democracy, nothing to do with a secularism. They just kill Sikhs to please the majority."

India is on the verge of disintegration. As L.K. Advani said, "if Kashmir goes, India goes." He is right. Last year, a US Central Intelligence Agency report predicted that by 2015, India will cease to exist as we know it. India is not a single country but a polyglot of many nations. It has 18 official languages. Throughout history, multinational states such as India have been doomed to failure. Countries like Austria-Hungary, India's longtime friend the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and others prove this point. India is doomed to break up as they did. Currently, there are 17 freedom movements within India's borders. "We hope that India's breakup will be peaceful like Czechoslovakia's, not violent like Yugoslavia's," Dr. Aulakh said. Guru Gobind Singh gave sovereignty to the Sikh Nation ("In grieß Sikhin ko deon Patshahi.") Sikhs ruled Punjab from 1710 to 1716 and again from 1765 to 1849. "Freedom is the God-given right of every nation and every human being. The time has come for the Sikh Nation to achieve independence and enjoy the glow of freedom in a sovereign, independent Khalistan where the Sikh Nation is the master of its own destiny," he said. Sikhs declared independence from India on October 7, 1987 and formed the Council of Khalsitan as a government in exile.

"The only way that the Sikh nation can flourish and progress is in a sovereign, independent Khalistan," said Dr. Aulakh. "As Professor Darshan Singh, former Jathedar of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh.,' he said. "We must free Khalistan now."

Dr. Aulakh Interviewed on Sikh Channel Television

WASHINGTON, D.C., December 27, 2010 – While visiting Great Britain, Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, was interviewed on Sikh Channel television. He exposed the atrocities of the Indian government. "I appeal to the Sikhs of Europe to support the Sikh Channel so that it can continue to work for the freedom of Khalistan," Dr. Aulakh said.

Dr. Aulakh also addressed the Sangat of the Gurdwara in Leicester. He apprised the Sangat of the atrocities committed against the Sikhs and reminded them of the celebration of Guru Nanak's birthday in Nankana Sahib. Sardar Kewal Singh Toor, who is associated with the of the Leicester Gurdwara, attended the celebration. He invited Dr. Aulakh to address the congregation. The Sangat and Management Committee provided funds for Dr. Aulakh while he was addressing the congregation, which is greatly appreciated. After his speech, the Sangat raised five logans of Khalsitan Zindabad. Dr. Aulakh appealed to all Gurdwaras to follow this tradition.

The desire for Khalistan burns in the heart of the Sikh Nation. Freedom is the birthright of all peoples and nations. The Panthic Committee, which was appointed by the Sikh Nation, declared the independence of Khalistan on October 7, 1987 and severed all political connections with the Indian government. The Council of Khalistan, the government pro tempore of Khalistan, was created at that time to lead the struggle to liberate Khalistan. The head of the Panthic Committee, Baba Gurbachan Manochar, who was also a Jathedars of the Akal Takht, appointed Dr. Aulakh as President at that time, charging him to free Khalistan by seeking support from the international community. Three other Akal Takht Jathedars, Professor Darshan Singh, Bhai Ranjit Singh, and Sardar Joginder Singh Vedanti, have all publicly supported Khalistan.

India is on the verge of disintegration. As L.K. Advani said, "if Kashmir goes, India goes." Last year, a US Central Intelligence Agency report predicted that by 2015, India will cease to exist as we know it. India is not a single country but a polyglot of many nations. It has 18 official languages. Throughout history, multinational states such as India have been doomed to failure. Countries like Austria-Hungary, India's longtime friend the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and others prove this point. India is doomed to break up as they did. Currently, there are 17 freedom movements within India's borders. "It is time to unite and work together to free our Sikh homeland, Khalistan," said Dr. Aulakh.

Over 1500 statements in the United States Congressional Record have preserved the true history of the Sikh Nation since 1984. India is trying to alter Sikh history. They will not be able to succeed because those statements are preserved in the Library of Congress for a long time. One just has to enter <http://thomas.loc.gov> and punch in keywords such as Khalistan, Sikh, India, Dr. Aulakh, and others to see those statements. We thank all the Members of Congress who have supported us with Congressional Record statements. These statements are being put in book form by Sardar Kavnit Singh Pannu of the World Sikh Council. We thank him. The book will be in six volumes because there are about 4600 pages of statements. Once this book is published, it should go to all Gurdwaras, Sikh libraries, the SGPC, the Akal Takht, all five Takhts, the universities, and individual Sikhs.

This is a very important record which the coming generation will very much appreciate. They will appreciate the work of the Sikhs who were present during the attack on the Golden Temple and the subsequent genocide, including the mass murders of over 20,000 Sikhs in Delhi and throughout the country after Indira Gandhi's assassination. Sikhs were burned alive, with tires put around their necks and gasoline poured all over their bodies, a practice referred to as "necklacing." Sikh women were raped, Sikh children murdered, buses burned, Sikh homes marked from the census (proving government involvement in the massacre), then burned. The experience was reminiscent of Kristallnacht, when the Nazis in Germany destroyed the homes and businesses of Jews. Those responsible, including Sajjan Kumar, Jagdish Tytler, and police officials, have not been punished to this day. The Delhi police were ordered to stand aside and Sikh police officers were confined to their barracks. State-run radio and television called for more Sikh blood.

India has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984. Another 52,268 are being held as political prisoners, according to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR.) Punjab Police, under the control of the Indian government, picked up over 50,000 young Sikh men from their homes, tortured them, murdered them, and then cremated their bodies, declaring them unidentified. In addition, India has killed over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir as well as 2,000 to 5,000 Muslims in Gujarat, over 300,000 Christians in Nagaland, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Dalits (the dark-skinned, aboriginal "Untouchables"), Manipuris, Tamils, and other minorities. The Gujarat massacre was pre-planned, according to a police officer who spoke to Indian newspapers. Nuns have been raped, priests have been murdered, churches have been burned, Christian prayer halls and schools have been attacked, and police broke up a Christian religious festival with gunfire. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

Sikhs gave 80 percent of the sacrifices for Indian independence, but Hindu fundamentalist India wants to eradicate the Sikh religion. The Prime Minister of India has apologized for the Delhi massacre, which we appreciate, but he has never apologized for the murders of over 250,000 Sikhs nor for the attack on the Golden Temple. Is this local Delhi politics?

"Only a free Khalsitan will allow the Sikh Nation to escape the yoke of tyranny," said Dr. Aulakh. "As Professor Darshan Singh, former Jathedars of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh.' We must free Khalistan now."

Council of Khalistan Convention Very Successful

WASHINGTON, D.C., October 13, 2010 – More than 500 Sikhs came from various places around the country to attend the Council of Khalistan's 23rd annual convention at the Gurdwara Sahib in Glen Rock, New Jersey, October 9 and 10. It was very successful. The convention marked the 23rd anniversary of Khalistan's declaration of independence, which occurred on October 7, 1987, and the formation of the Council of Khalistan at that time to serve as the government pro tempore of Khalistan and lead the struggle for Khalistan's freedom. The Sangat of Glen Rock was particularly enthusiastic.

Sikhs in attendance listened to various speakers, discussed strategies for liberating Khalistan, and passed resolutions to liberate Khalistan. They proposed various methods to liberate Khalistan including calling on the Sikhs in Punjab to begin a peaceful, nonviolent agitation, boycotting Indian products and the Indian government, and disinvestment from India. Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, spoke on the progress the Council has made in the past year. Slogans of "Khalistan Zindabad" were raised to an enthusiastic response. He reported that he had recently concluded a very successful trip to Europe. Dr. Aulakh said that he spoke at the Paris Gurdwara in France, visited a Sikh youth camp where he spoke to over 300 Sikh boys and girls distributed prizes to the players on a kabaddi team, and promoted Khalistan in Belgium. On a visit to Birmingham, England, Dr. Aulakh appeared on a call-in program on Sikh TV for an hour and a quarter. After his statement, there were many enthusiastic callers. He was also interviewed on a program on Punjabi FM radio in France with Sardar Shingara Singh Mann.

"I would like to thank everyone who helped to make the convention a success," said Dr. Aulakh. "I would especially like to thank the Managing Committee of the Glen Rock Gurdwara, especially Sardar Charan Singh Kalsi, Vice President of the Gurdwara, and Sardar Galhotra, the secretary. I would also like to thank Dr. Ranbir Singh Bhalla, Sardar Benniwal, Sardar Buta Singh Kharaud of the Akali Dal (Amritsar), and Sardar Amarjit Singh Grewal and his family. I would also like to thank Jas P. Singh and Manpaul Singh for their support and Mrs. Bhalla for her hospitality," Dr. Aulakh said. "I also thank Sikh youth for their financial support. This convention has been a significant step forward for the cause of freedom for Khalistan," said Dr. Aulakh. "A free Khalistan is the only way to end the repression of the Sikhs and allow the Sikh Nation to live in freedom, peace, security, dignity, and prosperity," he said.

The Indian government has murdered over 250,000 Sikh infants, children, youth, men, women, and elderly since 1984, as well as more than 300,000 Christians in Nagaland, over 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir as well as 2,000 to 5,000 in Gujarat, tens of thousands of Christians and Muslims throughout the country, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Dalits, Manipuris, Tamils, and other minorities. A report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR) quotes the Punjab Civil Magistracy as writing "if we add up the figures of the last few years the number of innocent persons killed would run into lakhs [hundreds of thousands]." The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

Indian police arrested human-rights activist Jaswant Singh Khalra after he exposed their policy of mass cremation of Sikhs, in which over 50,000 Sikhs have been arrested, tortured, and murdered, then their bodies were declared unidentified and secretly cremated. Khalra was murdered in police custody. No one has been brought to justice for the crime. The only witness to the Khalra kidnapping, Rajiv Singh Randhawa, has been repeatedly harassed by the police, including having been arrested for trying to hand a piece of paper to then-British Home Secretary Jack Straw. The police never released the body of former Jathedar of the Akal Takht Gurdev Singh Kaunke after SSP Swaran Singh Ghotra murdered him. In 1994, the U.S. State Department reported that the Indian government had paid over 41,000 cash bounties for killing Sikhs.

The MASR report states that 52,268 Sikhs are being held as political prisoners in India without charge or trial, mostly under a repressive law known as the "Terrorist and Disruptive Activities Act" (TADA), which expired in 1995. Many have been in illegal custody since 1984! There has been no list published of those who were acquitted under TADA and those who are still rotting in Indian jails. Tens of thousands of other minorities are also being held as political prisoners, according to Amnesty International. 35 Sikhs were charged and arrested in Punjab for making speeches in support of Khalistan and raising the Khalistani flag. "How can making speeches and raising a flag be considered crimes in a democratic society?" asked Dr. Aulakh.

"Kosovo got its freedom from Serbia and Montenegro, which has less than a million people, has become independent," said Dr. Aulakh. "Khalistan's freedom is not far away." History shows that multinational states such as India are doomed to failure. Countries like Austria-Hungary, India's longtime friend the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and others prove this point. India is not one country; it is a polyglot like those countries, thrown together for the convenience of the British colonialists. It is doomed to break up as they did. Last year, the Central Intelligence Agency predicted that India will disintegrate by 2015. Currently, there are 17 freedom movements within India's borders. It has 18 official languages. "We hope that India's breakup will be peaceful like Czechoslovakia's, not violent like Yugoslavia's," Dr. Aulakh said. "Now it is the time for the Sikh Nation of Khalistan to reclaim its independence." As former Jathedar of the Akal Takht Professor Darshan Singh said, "If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh."

OPEN LETTER TO THE SIKH NATION

Time for Action to Free Khalistan

"In Grieb Sikhin Ko Deon Patshahi" – Guru Gobind Singh Sahib

Freedom Lies in the Heart of the Sikh Nation; No Force Can Suppress It

Political Power Is Essential for the Survival of the Sikh Nation; Free Khalistan Now

Dear Khalsa Ji:

WAHEGURU JI KA KHALSA, WAHEGURU JI KI FATEH!

Recently, the Council of Khalistan concluded a very successful convention. Over 500 people attended the Sunday session. I would like to thank the Sangat of Glen Rock for their help with this very successful event.

At that convention, several ideas were discussed to advance the liberation of Khalistan. As you know, organizations such as Dal Khalsa and others have been actively organizing to liberate our homeland. On September 28, Simranjit Singh Mann had a rally in Jagraon in Ludhiana which was attended by over 100,000 people. Slogans of Khalistan were raised and they openly asked for an independent, sovereign Khalistan. We appreciate and support these efforts but the Council of Khalistan convention felt it was time to take those efforts to a new level.

The Sikhs in Punjab have suffered enormous repression at the hands of the Indian regime in the last 26 years. The Indian government has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984. In addition, over 50,000 Sikh youth were picked up from their houses, tortured, murdered in police custody, then secretly cremated as "unidentified bodies." Their remains were never even given to their families! Over 52,000 Sikhs sit in Indian jails as political prisoners without charge or trial, according to a report by the Movement Against State Repression (MASR.) Some of them have been in illegal custody for the last 26 years! Repression and genocide of this magnitude at the hands of the Indian government is unparalleled. India should be ashamed of the genocide it has committed against Sikhs, Christians, Muslims, and other minorities.

Change is in the air. It is all around us. The Kashmiri freedom movement is very active. As L.K. Advani said, "If Kashmir goes, India goes." Kashmir's independence is at hand. The unravelling of India has begun.

Last year, the US Central Intelligence Agency predicted that India will disintegrate by 2015. History bears out that prediction. The historical record shows that multinational states such as India are doomed to failure. Countries like Austria-Hungary, India's longtime friend the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and others are the examples that prove this point. Kosovo recently became independent and Montenegro, with less than a million people, is an independent country. India is not one country; it is a polyglot like those countries, thrown together for the convenience of the British colonialists. It is doomed to break up as they did. Currently, there are 17 freedom movements within India's borders. It has 18 official languages. We hope that India's breakup will be peaceful like Czechoslovakia's, not violent like Yugoslavia's. Otherwise, the cost in blood and treasure, not only to the minority nations like Khalistan, Kashmir, Nagaland, and the others, but to Hindu India as well, will be staggering and tragic.

Three former Jathedars of the Akal Takht – Bhai Ranjit Singh, Professor Darshan Singh, and Joginder Singh Vedanti – have publicly endorsed Khalistan. The time for freedom has come.

The Sikh diaspora has a key role to play to free Khalistan. Over there, there is no freedom. As the late General Narinder Singh said, "Punjab is a police state." The people are under the control of the dishonest leaders because they are poor and the Akalis keep them that way by providing a subsistence level of food at a price of Rs3 per kilo in order to buy their votes. We must break this cycle. No one needs to be poor in such a rich land.

The time has come to break that chain and put an end to poverty in Punjab. The majority of schools in Punjab do not have teachers. How can the Sikh Nation progress without a good education? The leaders are either incompetent or so selfish that they want to keep the people poor and uneducated to enrich themselves and stay in power through corruption. The time has come for honest, dedicated, capable, educated leaders to get control of government and work for the people, not for themselves.

Khalsa Ji, at this time, the whole Khalsa Panth must be energized to reestablish a sovereign, independent Khalsa Raj by freeing our homeland, Khalistan. It is time for Sikhs to look back at our history of persecution and suffering over the past two decades. The Hindu government of India, whether run by the Congress Party or by the BJP, wants minorities either subservient to Hinduism or completely wiped out.

In spite of the fact that the religions believe completely opposite things, Hindus desire to engulf Sikhism just as they did with Jainism and Buddhism in India. They think that Buddhism is part of Hinduism because Siddhartha Gautama, the Buddha, was born in India. Similarly, Guru Nanak was born Hindu, so they proclaim Sikhism to be part of Hinduism. Yet Guru Nanak said that he was "neither Hindu nor Muslim." Jesus was born Jewish. Does that mean that Christianity is merely part of Judaism?

We must bring back our Khalsa spirit. We must remember our heritage and tradition of "Khalsa Bagi Yan Badshah" by committing ourselves to freeing our homeland, Punjab, Khalistan, from Indian occupation. We need a new Sikh political party which has a dedication to the interests of the Sikh Nation as its sole objective, to establish Khalsa Raj by liberating Khalistan, severing all political ties with India.

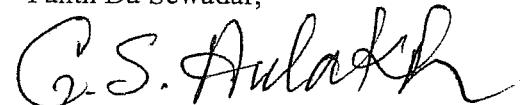

The time has come for Sikhs in Punjab to begin a Shantmai Morcha to liberate Khalistan. Boycott the Indian regime and protest it whenever and wherever possible. Boycott Indian goods to put a dent in the country's economic power. Disinvest from companies that are invested in India. This tactic worked to help end apartheid in South Africa. There is no reason it should not work against the Indian oppressors. Let us be like a swarm of bees constantly buzzing around the Indian elephant. As he swats at one, many more show up. Eventually, the structure of Indian repression will destroy itself by swat after swat after swat.

The Indian government wants to break the will of the Sikh Nation and enslave them forever, making Sikhism a part of Hinduism. This can only be stopped if we free Punjab from Delhi's control and reestablish a sovereign, independent country, as declared on October 7, 1987. We must recommit ourselves to freeing our homeland, Punjab, Khalistan. Raise slogans of "Khalsa Bagi Yan Badshah," "Raj Kare Ga Khalsa," "Khalistan Zindabad," and "India out of Khalistan." As Professor Darshan Singh said, "If a Sikh is not a Khalsitani, he is not a Sikh."

It is time to take action. In spite of India's best efforts, they cannot arrest all of us. Their jails are overflowing as it is. We must keep the pressure on every day to force India to withdraw from our homeland and allow the glow of freedom in Khalistan.

The flame of freedom still burns brightly in Punjab in spite of the Indian government's brutal repression. Perhaps this is why India is afraid to hold a free and fair vote on the subject of independence. The essence of democracy is the right to self-determination. The time to achieve our independence is now. Always remember our heritage: Raj Kare Ga Khalsa; Khalsa Bagi Yan Badshah. Freedom for Khalistan is closer than ever. We must rededicate ourselves to achieving it.

Panth Da Sewadar,

Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh

Sikh Youth Beaten, Hair Forcibly Cut Another Manifestation of India's Divide and Rule Strategy

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 27, 2010 – Mithunpal Singh, a 16-year-old Sikh, was beaten and his hair was chopped off in an incident last month in Tral in the Pulwama district of Kashmir. Sikhs engaged in a two-day protest to demand that action be taken against the perprtrators.

According to a report in the Hindustan Times, "Deputy inspector General of Police in south Kashmir, Shafaqat Watali, said, 'Some youth asked him to raise pro-freedom slogans. He obliged. But when they asked him to recite kalma (Islamic prayer), he resisted. They beat him and some of his hair was chopped off.'" The paper reported that "Sikh youths blocked the Jammu-Pathankote National Highway in protest."

This is reminiscent of the massacre of 38 Sikhs in Chittisinghpura, where Indain government forces masqueraded as Kashmiri Muslims and massacred Sikhs to divide the Sikh and Kashmiri freedom movements against each other. Witnesses in that case reported hearing the leader of the group give a command in Hindi. The New York Times Magazine and two independent investigations concluded that the massacre was the work of the Indian government. Indian forces were also caught red-handed trying to set fire to Sikh homes in a Kashmiri village to pit Sikhs against Muslims. They were stopped when the villagers joined together to prevent the arson.

These incidents are part of the Indian regime's ongoing divide-and-rule strategy, according to Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan. The Council of Khalistan is the government pro tempore of Khalistan, the Sikh homeland that declared its independence from India on October 7, 1987. "As long as Punjab, Khalsitan remains under India rule, these incidents will keep happening," Dr. Aulakh said. "This incident is merely the latest manifestation of India's oppression and tyranny against both the Sikh Nation and our Kashmiri neighbors."

The Indian regime has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984, more than 300,000 Christians since 1948, almost 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Manipuris, Tamils, Dalits, and others. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

Last year, the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) predicted that India will break up by 2015. India is a multinational state thrown together by the British colonialists for their administrative convenience. The breakup of India is inevitable. "India is destined to fall apart soon," said Dr. Aulakh. "The minority nations of South Asia are going to become independent and India wil unravel."

"The Sikh media and the Sikh diaspora have a responsibility to support freedom for Khalistan in every way we can," said Dr. Aulakh. "This would be the best way to show the true Sikh spirit," said Dr. Aulakh. "As Professor Darshan Singh, a former Jathedars of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh'," Dr. Aulakh noted. Former Akal Takht Jathedars Bhai Ranjit Singh and Sardar Joginder Singh Vedanti have also publicly stated their support for Khalistan. "It is time to liberate Khalistan and put an end to this kind of oppression," he said.

Dr. Aulakh, 45 Others Recommended for Removal From Indian Blacklist

Akalis Have No Power; Subservient to Indian Government Beware of Secret Agenda

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 27, 2010 – The government of Punjab has recommended the removal of Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, and 45 other Sikhs from the Indian government's blacklist, which prevents their entry into India. So far, the Indian government has taken no action on this request. The Council of Khalistan is the government pro tempore of Khalistan, the Sikh homeland, which declared its independence from India on October 7, 1987. The Council of Khalistan was formed at that time to lead the struggle to liberate Khalistan. It is committed to the liberation of Khalistan by peaceful, nonviolent, democratic means.

"We appreciate the effort of the Punjab government in recommending my removal and that of the others from the blacklist," said Dr. Aulakh. "However, there should not be such a list. How is it that a democracy maintains a list barring peaceful activists from the country?" he said.

Dr. Aulakh also noted that the request shows that the government of Punjab is powerless. "That they make this request but cannot change or abolish the list themselves shows that the government of Punjab is totally under the control of the Indian regime," Dr. Aulakh said. "They are slaves as much as any other Sikhs living under Indian rule are," he said. "If Mr. Badal wants real power, he should work for the liberation of Khalistan. In a free Khalistan, the government will be able to make these decisions for themselves and not be dependent on Delhi."

Among those also recommended for removal from the blacklist were Sardar Ajaib Singh Bagri, who was acquitted in the Air India bombing case, and U.S.-based Sikh activist Sardar Ganga Singh Dhillon. Although Mr. Dhillon talks about Khalistan to American audiences and sometimes wears a saffron turban in public, he and Dr. Sohan Singh told the magazine Fateh Nama, printed in Amritsar, that they have never asked for Khalistan. The book Chakravyuh: Web of Indian Secularism includes correspondence from Indian intelligence saying that Dhillon and others, including Didar Singh Bains, had pledged to help suppress the Sikh freedom movement in North America after the 1984 attack on the Golden Temple.

Dr. Aulakh warned that there might be a hidden agenda in the government's action. "They could be sending a signal that there is no Khalistan struggle anymore, to discourage Sikhs from supporting the cause," he warned. Punjab Newsline wrote that "The exercise is probably aimed to make an impact on radical Sikhs to get their support in SGPC elections due by the end of this year." Dr. Aulakh noted that the Indian government started the militancy themselves to terrorize the population and give the cause of Sikh freedom a bad name. Police would pose as militants, demand food and money, and rape Sikh women, then the next day the police would come back, charge the residents with "harboring militants", and beat them.

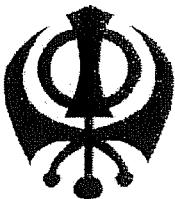

The Indian regime has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984, more than 300,000 Christians since 1948, almost 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Manipuris, Tamils, Dalits, and others. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

"Khalistan's freedom is nearer than ever," said Dr. Aulakh. "India is destined to fall apart soon." Last year, the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) predicted that India will break up by 2015. India is a multinational state thrown together by the British colonialists for their administrative convenience. The breakup of India is inevitable. "As Professor Darshan Singh, a former Jathedar of the Akal Takht, said, 'If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh'," Dr. Aulakh noted. "Two other Jathedars, Bhai Ranjit Singh and Joginder Singh Vedanti, have taken the same position. The Sikh Nation should listen to these Jathedars," he said. "It is time to liberate Khalistan."

Dr. Aulakh's Trip to Europe Very Successful Visited Belgium, France, UK, Appeared on Sikh TV, Radio

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 27, 2010 – Dr. Gurmit Singh Aulakh, President of the Council of Khalistan, recently concluded a very successful trip to Europe. In Belgium, Dr. Aulakh distributed prizes to the players on a kabaddi team. The team was from Punjab and Dr. Aulakh mentioned that soon there will be a team from Khalistan. A representative of the State Bank of India gave 1500 Euros to his team. The spirit of freedom will not be bought with money from Indian officials.

Dr. Aulakh spoke at the Paris Gurdwara in France. He raised slogans of "Khalistan Zindabad" and the response was a very loud "Zindabad!" Dr. Aulakh asked those in attendance to do their best to free Khalistan as soon as possible. Khalistani Sikhs are very active in Belgium, France, Britain, and throughout Europe. Dr. Aulakh also met Sikhs from Italy in Paris. They told him about an incident in the Indian Embassy in Rome where the Indian Embassy official cut the ghatra of an Amritdhari Sikh woman with scissors to remove her kirpan, which Sikhs are required to carry.

Dr. Aulakh visited a Sikh youth camp where he spoke to over 500 Sikh boys and girls. Again slogans of "Khalistan Zindabad" were raised. Dr. Aulakh told the Sikh youth that a free Khalistan is essential for the Sikh religion to flourish. They pledged to work for Khalistan. He reminded them of the statement of former Akal Takht Jathedars Darshan Singh, who said, "If a Sikh is not a Khalistani, he is not a Sikh." Two other Jathedars, Bhai Ranjit Singh and Joginder Singh Vedanti, have taken the same position. "The Sikh Nation should listen to these Jathedars," he said. The Sikh youth said "Raj Kare Ga Khalsa."

On a visit to Birmingham, England, Dr. Aulakh appeared on a call-in program on Sikh TV for an hour and a quarter. After his statement, there were many enthusiastic callers. He was also interviewed on a program on Punjabi FM radio in France with Sardar Shingara Singh Mann, whose name was also one of the 45 de-listed from the Indian blacklist along with Dr. Aulakh and others. The prior evening, S. Shingara Singh Mann interviewed Jatheer Bhai Ranjit Singh before Bhai Ranjit Singh's departure for Italy.

Dr. Aulakh noted and appreciated the hospitality of Sardar Gurdial Singh and his family. He also appreciated the assistance in making his arrangements by Sardar Jagdish Singh Bhura and his son Sardar Manjot Singh. Sardar Harvinder Singh Bhatery, who removed the turban of K.P.S. Gill, was also helpful and his help is appreciated.

The Indian regime has murdered over 250,000 Sikhs since 1984, more than 300,000 Christians since 1948, almost 100,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988, and tens of thousands of Assamese, Bodos, Manipuris, Tamils, Dalits, and others. The Indian Supreme Court called the Indian government's murders of Sikhs "worse than a genocide."

"I am very encouraged by my European trip," said Dr. Aulakh. The European Sikhs are very active and they are helping to bring freedom for Khalistan closer than ever," he said.

Last year, the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) predicted that India will break up by 2015. India is a multinational state thrown together by the British colonialists for their administrative convenience. The breakup of India is inevitable. "India is destined to fall apart soon," said Dr. Aulakh. "It is time to start a Shantmai Morcha to liberate Khalistan. We owe it to our children and grandchildren," he said. "The survival of Sikhism is at stake."

Holy Langar that epitomises togetherness

By Amjad Iqbal

TAXILA, Nov 24: The 'guru ka Langar' (holy food) at gurdwaras epitomises abundance of divinity that can be found in the community working together. This community feeling is the strongest when Gurpurb, the birth anniversary celebration of Guru Nanak Dev, is celebrated.

The offering of religious rituals at Gurdwara Punja Sahib in connection with the 541st birth anniversary celebration of Guru Nanak Dev by the Sikh and Hindu community from different lands displayed this togetherness.

The 'langar' is part of the teachings of Guru Nanak, the founder of Sikhism. It is the true example of his universal message of equality of all people, working hard and earning an honest living, remembrance of God and sharing with others, especially those in need. Although today the society is divided in many groups, Hindus and Sikhs devotees attend the 'langar' to celebrate equality and prove that they have not forgot that they are all equal beings and should work together.

Every year, hundreds and thousands of pilgrims from various parts of the world, especially India and rural areas of Sindh, offer religious rituals in connection with various occasions like Rakhi, Besakhi, birth and death anniversary of Guru Nanak Dev, Joti Jott and the last emperor of Punjab, Ranjit Singh.

Moreover, during national calamities like the 2005 earthquake, military operation in Swat last year and the recent floods in the country, this temple in Hassanabdal became a safe haven for the Sikhs and Hindus living in the affected areas as they took shelter here for months till normalisation of the situation in their respective areas. Hindu and Sikh minorities even from various parts of Sindh, like Jacobabad and Sanghar, also took shelter here for weeks when floods washed away their homes.

During the 541st birth anniversary celebration of Guru Nanak Dev, the holy food was also prepared for hundreds of Sikh and Hindu devotees. Amarinder Singh, a member of Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee, said: "Guru Nanak Dev used the entire amount to feed a group of saints instead. It was institutionalised that when the wife of Guru Angad Dev, Mata Khivi, made it a ritual to feed visitors to the temple."

Amar Singh, president of the gurdwara committee, said: "It is a miracle that whenever there is a 'langar' in Guru's name, the food is aplenty. We have never heard of any shortage."

the holy food to the devotees, said Mangneet Kaur, a female volunteer while preparing bread (roti) for the pilgrims.

She said on every occasion she baked over 5,000 rotis three times a day. She said when she got tired of baking, she served food to the pilgrims at the Langar khana. She said she felt inner satisfaction while preparing and serving food to the pilgrims.

Gorgal Singh, an aged Sikh volunteer hailing from Indian city of Anandpur, while talking to this reporter said serving food to the pilgrims was a unique act. He said though he was a wealthy person but felt satisfied while giving food to the young and old alike.

Foreign dignitaries chafe at TSA policies

Intrusive searches, enhanced screening roll sensibilities abroad

By COLUM LYNCH

United States in January. The TSA put in place special procedures for greater scrutiny of individuals from 14 countries, most of them Muslim, prompting complaints from Muslim governments. (India was not on the list.)

In April, "enhanced random security measures" for all passengers were put into effect — including pat-downs, sniffer dogs and more rigorous explosives testing. And last month, the TSA announced even more invasive body searches, which posed particularly sensitive issues for passengers with certain religious beliefs and medical issues.

For globe-trotting diplomats, the U.S. government has offered since 2007 a list of "tips" to help them get through the screening process easily and efficiently. It advises foreign dignitaries to carry two sets of credentials and warns that "screening may include a hand-wanding procedure and pat-down inspection."

Searches, the memo says, will be conducted out of public view.

The episode involving Puri has raised sensibilities in India, where Foreign Minister S.M. Krishna complained this month about the TSA's pat-downs of foreign diplomats. "We as little friction as possible. We are all in this together. Our diplomats are affected and those of other countries. Our diplomats are impacted, so are the diplomats of other countries. These situations in this country are certainly not unique."

A TSA spokesman defended the treatment of Puri and Shankar. "Let me be very frank that this is unacceptable," Krishna said. "South Asia say they have had no trouble with the TSA."

Anwarul Chowdhury, a former ports.

Puri "was not required to remove his turban, and our officers worked with him to complete screening according to established procedures," said spokesman Nicholas Kimball. "We will continue working with our offices to reinforce all established policies, including those pertaining to the respectful screening of religious headwear and clothing."

Kimball also said that a review of Shankar's pat-down in Jackson demonstrated that the TSA agents "followed proper procedure."

"United States airport security policies accommodate those individuals with religious, medical or other reasons for which the passenger cannot or wishes not to remove a certain item of clothing," Kimball added. "For religious headwear, a passenger can pat the item down themselves and then have their hand tested for traces of explosive residue."

In March, a State Department goodwill tour of the United States for a delegation of Pakistani lawmakers backfired after the group was asked to submit to additional screening on a flight from Washington to New Orleans. The lawmakers refused to board. The Pakistani army recalled a military delegation from Washington after the officers were subjected to what it called "unwarranted" searches.

Many of the incidents involve domestic flights at airports where TSA agents may have less exposure to foreign fliers than those at major international airports. One UN official, an American citizen of South Asian extraction, traveling with his American wife and children, said he often gets pulled aside for pat-downs and "random off, and you take your shoes off, and the men take Papa away and touch him everywhere," the girl told her mother. But other diplomats from South Asia say they have had no trouble with the TSA.

Anwarul Chowdhury, a former Bangladeshi ambassador to the United Nations, said he has traveled without problems for more than a decade as a foreign and UN official. He recently returned from a trip to Spain without incident. "We had smooth sailing," he said. "My wife also wears a sari all the time. I don't wear a turban, but I think they were extremely courteous, very nice."

Four Named to Asian Advisory Commission

By SUNITA SOHRABJI
India-West Staff Reporter

Four South Asian Americans, along with 12 other appointees, were sworn in at the White House Sept. 21 to the President's Advisory Commission on Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders.

The four South Asian American appointees include Farooq Kathwari, chairman and CEO of Ethan Allen Interiors; Sunil Puri, president and founder of the First Rockford Group, a real estate development firm; Amardeep Singh, co-founder of the Sikh Coalition; and Dilawar Syed, president and CEO of the Yonja Media Group.

The commission is broadly charged with increasing Asian American and Pacific Islander participation in programs in several areas, including education, business and commerce, health, and labor and employment. President Barack Obama last October signed an executive order establishing the White House Initiative on Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders, which will interact with 23 agencies to deliver more federal resources to Asian Americans.

"We're countering the model minority myth," said Kiran Ahuja, executive director of the White House Initiative on Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders, noting that large segments of the AA&PI community have high dropout and poverty rates. One out of five elderly Asian Americans lacks access to healthcare, she said at a press briefing in May.

Asian Americans have been hit the hardest by the foreclosure crisis, noted Ahuja, adding that the community as a whole also has the highest incidence of Hepatitis B.

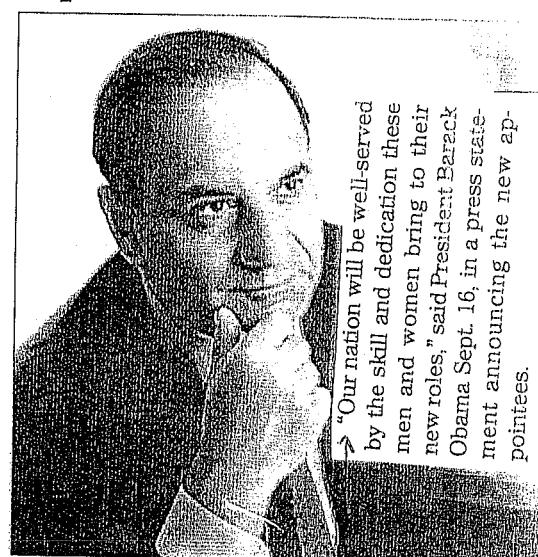

Commerce Secretary Gary Locke, who co-chairs the initiative with Education Secretary Arne Duncan, rolled out a series of initiatives in May to help small business owners establish a toehold in the current economy.

"I am honored and humbled by the appointment. I look forward to helping connect the president and the White House to the community and its needs," Singh told India-West on the evening of the swearing-in ceremony.

"Given my background, I particularly look forward to advising the president in the area of civil rights," said Singh, who currently serves as the director of programs at the Sikh Coalition, the nation's largest Sikh civil rights organization.

Prior to founding the Coalition, Singh worked as a researcher at Human Rights Watch, which aims to give a voice to oppressed people and to bring them justice. While at Human Rights Watch, Singh wrote the report, "We Are Not the Enemy," about hate crimes against people perceived to be Muslims, after the massive terrorist attack on Sept. 11, 2001.

"We are gratified by President Obama's commitment to our communities," Syed told India-West. "This is a unique opportunity for the Asian American community to come together and inform policies at the national level that serve the interests of all our communities," he said, adding, "The success of this commission would depend on the participation of leaders

Captain Kalsi Completes Army Training

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — Captain Kamaljeet Singh Kalsi, who graduated from basic training last week at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, has become the first Sikh to be accommodated by the U.S. Army to serve with his turban and beard in over two decades.

Though the Army's general policy prohibits Sikhs from serving while maintaining their articles of faith, Captain Kalsi's completion of basic training indicates that Sikhs can now practice their religion while effectively serving in the military.

ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਸੈਨਾ ਦੀ ਨੀਤੀ 'ਚ ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਪ੍ਰਤੀ ਹੱਲੀ ਹੱਲੀ ਤਬਦੀਲੀ ਆਈ

ਲੰਬੀ ਪਾਬੰਦੀ ਤੋਂ ਬਾਅਦ ਖੇਲ੍ਹੇ ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਲਈ ਦਰਵਾਜ਼ੇ

ਅਮਰੀਕਾ ਦੇ ਓਹਾਇਓ ਸੂਬੇ ਵਿਚ ਫੇਅਰਨ ਵਾਯੂਸੈਨਾ ਟਿਕਾਣੇ ਦੇ ਨਜ਼ਦੀਕ ਰਹਿਣ ਵਾਲੇ ਤੇਜਦੀਪ ਸਿੰਘ ਰਤਨ ਦਾ ਸੁਪਨਾ ਬਾਬੁ ਤੋਂ ਹੀ ਸੈਨਾ ਵਿਚ ਕੰਮ ਕਰਨਾ ਸੀ, ਪਰ ਪੱਗ ਬੰਨ੍ਹੀ ਹੋਣ ਅਤੇ ਦਾੜ੍ਹੀ ਰੱਖੀ ਹੋਣ ਕਾਚਨ ਤਿੰਨ ਵਾਰ ਉਸ ਨੂੰ ਸੈਨਿਕ ਅਧਿਕਾਰੀਆਂ ਨੇ ਵਾਪਸ ਮੌਜ਼ ਦਿੱਤਾ। ਇਸ ਦੇ ਬਾਵਜੂਦ ਸ. ਰਤਨ ਨੇ ਹਿਮਤ ਨਾ ਹਾਰੀ। 31 ਸਾਲਾ

ਤੇਜਦੀਪ ਸਿੰਘ ਰਤਨ ਅੱਜ ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਸੈਨਾ ਵਿਚ ਕੈਪਟਨ ਹਨ। ਉਨ੍ਹਾਂ ਨੂੰ ਲੰਘੇ ਚਲਾਈ ਮਹੀਨੇ ਵਿਚ ਫੈਟਿਸਟ ਹੈਡ ਦੇ ਤੌਰ 'ਤੇ ਨਿਊਯਾਰਕ ਦੇ ਫੇਰਟ ਭਰੀਮ ਵਿਚ ਨਿਯੁਕਤੀ ਸਿਲ੍ਹੀ ਹੈ। ਪਿਛਲੇ ਇਕ ਸਾਲ ਦੌਰਾਨ ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਸੈਨਾ ਦੀ ਨੀਤੀ ਵਿਚ ਹੈਲੀ ਹੈਲੀ ਤਬਦੀਲੀ ਆਈ ਹੈ। ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਨੂੰ ਸਾਬਤ ਸੁਰਤ ਰੂਪ 'ਚ ਫੈਜ ਵਿਚ ਭਰਤੀ ਕਰਨ ਦੀ ਬੁਲੂ ਦੇ ਦਿਤੀ ਗਈ ਹੈ। ਅਮਰੀਕਾ 'ਚ ਵਸਦੇ ਪੱਜ ਲੱਖ ਤੋਂ ਵੱਧ ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਨੂੰ ਇਸ ਦਾ ਫਾਇਦਾ ਹੋਵੇਗਾ, ਪਰ ਇਹ ਮੰਜ਼ਲ ਸੈਖਿਆਂ ਹਾਸਲ ਨਹੀਂ ਹੋਈ, ਇਸ ਲਈ ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਨੂੰ ਲੋਬਾ ਸੰਘਰਸ਼ ਕਰਨਾ ਪਿਆ। ਹੁਣ ਇਨ੍ਹਾਂ ਨੂੰ ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਦੀਆਂ ਧਾਰਮਿਕ ਪ੍ਰੰਪਰਾ ਦੇ ਅਨੁਸਾਰ ਦਸਤਾਵੇਜ਼ ਪਹਿਨਣ ਅਤੇ ਦਾੜ੍ਹੀ ਹੱਥਣ ਦੀ ਵੀ ਛੋਟ ਹੈ।

ਤੇਜਦੀਪ ਸਿੰਘ ਰਤਨ ਅਤੇ ਕੈਪਟਨ ਕਮਲਜੀਤ ਸਿੰਘ ਕਲਸੀ ਨੂੰ

ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਫੈਜ ਵਿਚ ਭਰਤੀ ਕਰਨ ਤੋਂ ਇਨਕਾਰ ਕਰ ਦਿਤਾ ਗਿਆ ਸੀ, ਪਰ ਦੋਵਾਂ ਨੇ ਹਾਰ ਨਹੀਂ ਮੰਨੀ ਅਤੇ ਆਖਰਕਾਰ ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਫੈਜ ਵਿਚ ਭਰਤੀ ਹੋ ਗਏ। ਬੀਤੀ 30 ਅਗਸਤ ਨੂੰ ਸਿਮਰਨਪੀਤ ਸਿੰਘ ਲਾਂਬਾ ਨਾਂ ਦੇ ਸਿੱਖ ਨੂੰ ਵੀ ਫੈਜ ਵਿਚ ਭਰਤੀ ਕਰ ਲਿਆ ਗਿਆ ਹੈ। ਤੇਜਦੀਪ ਸਿੰਘ ਵਰਗੀ ਹਾਲਾਤ ਦਾ ਸਾਹਮਣਾ ਕਮਲਜੀਤ ਸਿੰਘ ਕਲਸੀ ਨੂੰ ਵੀ ਕਰਨਾ ਪਿਆ ਅਤੇ ਉਸ ਨੇ ਵੀ ਅਣਥੱਕ ਧਤਨਾਂ ਨਾਲ ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਫੈਜ ਵਿਚ ਅਪਣੀ ਥਾਂ ਪੱਕੀ ਕੀਤੀ। ਸ. ਕਲਸੀ ਨੇ

ਦੱਸਿਆ ਕਿ ਸਿਖਲਾਈ ਦੇ ਪਹਿਲੇ ਇਨ੍ਹਾਂ ਸਾਰਜੈਟ ਨੇ ਭੀੜ ਵਿਚੋਂ ਉਸ ਨੂੰ ਬਾਹਰ ਬੁਲਾਇਆ ਅਤੇ ਸਾਰਿਆਂ ਨੂੰ ਸੰਬੰਧਤ ਹੁੰਦਿਆਂ ਕਿਹਾ ਕਿ ਇਸ ਸਿੱਖ ਨੂੰ ਫੈਜ ਵਿਚ ਭਰਤੀ ਹੋਣ ਲਈ ਕਠਿਨ ਪ੍ਰੰਪਿਆ ਵਿਚੋਂ ਲੰਘਣਾ ਪਿਆ ਹੈ। ਕਲਸੀ ਮੁਰਾਬਕ, 'ਸਾਰਜੈਟ ਨੇ ਸਾਹਮਣੇ ਪੜ੍ਹੇ ਜਵਾਨਾਂ ਤੋਂ ਪੁਛਿਆ ਕਿ ਜੇ ਸਿੱਖ ਦੇ ਇਥੇ ਹੋਣ 'ਤੇ ਕਿਸੇ ਨੂੰ ਕੋਈ ਇਤਰਾਜ਼ ਹੈ ਤਾਂ ਉਹ ਦੱਸ ਦੇਵੇ, ਪਰ ਸਾਰਿਆਂ ਨੇ ਤਾਤੀਆਂ ਵਜਾ ਕੇ ਸੇਰਾ ਸਵਾਗਤ ਕੀਤਾ।' ਕਾਖਿਲੇਗੀ ਹੈ ਕਿ 1980 ਤੋਂ ਪਹਿਲਾਂ ਸਿੱਖਾਂ ਦੇ ਸਾਬਤ ਸੁਰਤ ਰੂਪ ਵਿਚ ਅਮਰੀਕੀ ਫੈਜ 'ਚ ਭਰਤੀ ਹੋਣ 'ਤੇ ਪਾਬੰਦੀ ਨਹੀਂ ਸੀ ਪਰ ਵੀਅਤਨਾਮ ਦੀ ਜੰਗ ਤੋਂ ਬਾਅਦ ਨਵੇਂ ਭਰਤੀ ਹੋਣ ਵਾਲੇ ਜਵਾਨਾਂ ਦੇ ਧਾਰਮਿਕ ਸਿੰਨ੍ਹ ਪਹਿਨਣ ਤੋਂ ਪਾਬੰਦੀ ਲਗਾ ਦਿਤੀ ਗਈ।

Prime Minister Manmohan Singh, will you answer these questions ?

Dr. Manmohan Singh, you have been the Prime Minister for six years. Instead of being a good Sikh and protecting the rights of Sikhs and other minorities, you have only proven to be a "protector of the throne of Rahul Gandhi son of Sonia Gandhi".

A nation cannot preserve its integrity without a homeland. Sikh Nation is struggling for their homeland Khalistan since 1947. In 1984, Fundamentalist Hindu organisations organized the genocide of Sikhs during three days in 108 Indian cities in other states outside Punjab, including the capital New Delhi. Around 30 000 Sikhs, including children and women were killed burnt alive by putting burning tires in their necks and throwing petrol on their bodies, other Sikhs were beaten or stabbed to death, Sikh women were raped

Hindu dominated government organized 4 major military and intelligence operations against the Sikh nation: Operation Blue Star (attack on the Golden Temple, Amritsar – June, 1984) , Operation Wood Rose (September 1984), Operation Black Thunder I (April 1986), Operation Black Thunder II (May 1988).

India is a terrorist state. Until now, state sponsored Hindu fundamentalist have killed 105 000 Muslims, 250 000 Sikhs and 300 000 Christians.

What have you done to eradicate this state sponsored Hindu fundamentalism ?

Dr. Manmohan Singh ! you are one of the biggest liars on earth : in 1992, you stated in front of UN Human Right Commission (Geneva) that no injustice has ever been done to the Sikh people in Punjab. This while you knew that the Hindu dominated Indian Government had killed 250 000 Sikhs.

Dr. Manmohan Singh ! you have done nothing to make a Sikh Marriage Act for Sikh nation, while Pakistan has enacted a Sikh marriage act.

Dr. Manmohan Singh ! you have done nothing to amend the Article 25 (2)(b) of the Indian Constitution which states that Sikhs are Hindus.

In 1990, when the movement of Khalistan was at its peak, the then Indian Government committed the heinous crime of adulterating poisonous substances such as Uranium, nitrate and Floride in the water of Satluj River. This shameful act was meant to spread dangerous diseases among the Sikh population living in the southeren part of the Indian Punjab. Today, fatal diseases like cancer, sexual impotence, sterility among women, throat diseases, intestine and stomach diseases are widespread among the population of that region.

Dr. Manmohan Singh ! Can you tell us which measures have you taken against the people who committed these abominable acts?

Dr. Manmohan Singh ! Have you done anything to fulfill the promises made by Hindu leaders to the Sikh Nation at the time of partition in 1947 ?

Sikh Nation
